I am Aya Reyad, a Frontend Developer and Graphic Designer with a Bachelor's degree in Plastic Arts, specializing in Oil Painting. My background in fine arts gives me a strong eye for detail, composition, and visual storytelling, while my work in frontend development has strengthened my skills in structure, logic, and precision.

I focus on creating digital experiences that blend artistic expression with technical clarity. My goal is to produce work that is visually compelling, intuitive to use, and thoughtfully crafted. I strive to bring together the emotional depth of art, the clarity of design, and the organized nature of development to deliver meaningful and effective results.
